"The South 40"

Did you ever have a vision of how something should be done, even though you had never actually seen it? Well I have, and last week I finally found what I consider a near perfect plant bed site.

The bed is located on Route 638 between Red House and Pamplin. Roy Mays, Walter Hunter, Jr. and brother, Frank, have established a bed on a hillside with a beautiful south east exposure. There should be no moisture problem for the irrigation system is in place and ready to go. Its free of trees and allows the early morning sun to dry off the dew and warm the soil.

Take the family for an evening ride. You can see the site without leaving the car.

Its reasonable to expect the big effort on pollution to restain with us. We can look for wardto more effort and more money being spent to clear the air improve water supplies and prevent the destruction of natural beauty.

Farm operators and others who have developed or plan to develop lagoons for manure disposal must obtain a certificate from the State Water Control Board.

If a pond is located and built so there absolutely cannot be any access to State waters, the Board would have no jurisdiction, but it would be necessary for the owner to prove that there is no possibility of any of his waste ever reaching any State water by any means.

Meeting this regulation would not be easy. Getting a certificate would be less trouble.

After July 1, there may be some ACP money available for cost shares, however the maximum would not be more than $200.

We're going to see more interest in planting Midland and Coastal Bermudagrass in this area. Midland holds the most promise of the two.

Recently the Piedmont SCS District purchased a bermudagrass spring digger and planter.

There's only one source of midland and coastal bermudagrass sprigs in Virginia.

What's your excuse for not taking soil samples? For more than 60 years the application of lime has been promoted. Lime use is not keeping up with soil needs!!

Lime is an efficient way to use money. Lime stretches the dollars spent for fertilizer.

Lets review what lime does.

1. Lime increases the availability of phosphorus.

2. Lime favors the release of Nitrogen from organic matter and manure.

3. Lime is essential to the fixation of nitrogen from air by legume location.

4. Lime counterbalances the residual acidity left by most nitrogen fertilizers.

5. Lime supplies calcium and magnesium, both required for production of all crops.

The March issue of Top Operator carried a very stimulating editorial on the effect pesticide laws have on food prices.

The recent restrictions on DDT could easily be translated to other pesticides. A new Florida law restricts 35 familiar pesticides and requires a farmer to get a permit to use them.

What about foods grown without the use of farm chemicals? In the Philadelphia area "nature" foods are offered although prices; ground beef $1.39 a lb., compared with super market ground beef from 59¢ to 89¢ a lb.; ham and turkey slices $1.79 a lb. vs. 95¢ to $1.89; white bread, 42¢ a loaf vs. 25¢ a loaf, and we could go on and on.

study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., has been instrumental in the establishment of new primary medical specialty in family practice. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's postgraduate education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Massies Mill

By: Frank Flynt

When the sun had set
And Nature seemed to be at peace and rest
In the night Satan raised his evil hand
And gave the command
Down came the rain in torrents on Virginia's fair land . . .
Washing mud and debris down the hill
Right through the little village of Massies Mill.
As they were peacefully sleeping in their beds,
They were awakened with the cries
And the water's rush and roar
And each house reeled and squeaked
Almost could hear Satan speak
As they went rushing out the door they were part from their loved ones, seen no more.
All were taken by the mud slides
Down Virginia's fair country side
If we are faithful and do not go astray,
We can live in that blessed land
Where Satan will not be there to mar that fair land.

Fidelity Plans New Bank

Fidelity National Bank has signed an agreement with Transamerica Virginia Corporation, a subsidiary of Transamerica Investment Group of Tulsa, Okla. for construction of an 18-story bank headquarters building in Lynchburg. Announcement of plans for the new building was named by J. Lyons Davidson, Chairman of Fidelity's Board of Directors, and E. R. Harris, Jr. President, after an agreement was signed in Tulsa on Friday with representatives of Transamerica.

Located at the corner of Ninth and Main Streets, the building will be the tallest structure in Lynchburg, one story higher than the 17-floor Allied Arts Building, completed in 1932. Main Street entrances are situated 32 1/2 feet back from the curb to permit an approach to the bank ornamented with plantings. Landscape architects also plan to utilize plantings in marble planters fronting Ninth Street and on the sixth floor terrace level where executive offices and the board room will be located.

Incorporating a contemporary concept both in design and construction, the structure has as its dominant feature a glass tower on a white, baset set above the lobby level. The white motif is repeated in marble strip banding floor.

The interior includes high speed elevators and that lead to two narrow where vaults, safe computer areas are The heating and cooling is being designed to climate control throughout building and to take special temperature humidity needs of computer.

Nuclear Conductor

That's Mack Wilson's job: conducting visitors through the Vepco Nuclear Information Center at Surry.

There, he uses animated displays, movies and other aids to tell the intricate story of the atom in terms even children can understand. With a working model of a nuclear power station, he shows why this is such a safe, clean, economical way to produce electricity.

From the Center's observation deck, he can point to the real thing taking shape just a few hundred feet away. The $327 million Surry Power Station, which will begin operation in 1971, is another of Vepco's giant steps into tomorrow.

Come see it all. It's open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays, just off Route 10 in Surry County. Mack Wilson will help you understand the mighty atom, and how the energy it creates will bring you a brighter tomorrow.
